Rise in Wages.

PITTSBURG, April 7.—The Pennsylvania R. R. Co. restores all wages to rates prevailing before June 1, 1877.

Whitelaw Reid's Charity.

NEW YORK, April 7.—To-night a party of 21 boys gathered from homes of poverty and lodging houses of the Children's Aid Society started for Winchester, Va., where they will find homes with farmers in that vicinity. The cost of their outfit and journey was paid by Whitelaw Reid from funds placed in his hands to be used in placing poor children in positions where their future success depended on their own efforts. This is the first company sent by Mr. Reid to the south.

The Palma Trophy.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The board of directors of the National Rifle Association has resolved that the match for the centennial trophy (Palma) has lapsed by failure of any foreign team to enter since 1877, but has recommended that the trophy be offered again for competition under the conditions that in the future only one team to represent Great Britain and Ireland will be eligible. An American team will go to Ireland in June to compete in the international contest.

The C. & A. R. R. Co.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The Chicago and Alton railroad directors to-day re-elected the officers of last year and decided to issue a million dollars of additional stock for the prosecution of improvements. Stockholders are to have the first opportunity to purchase the stock at par, which privilege is regarded equivalent to an extra ten per cent dividend.

The Colored Cadet Outrage.

POUGHKEEPSIE, April 7.—Whittaker says of the men who assaulted him last night that one was tall and the other short. Both were masked. One struck him with an Indian club (which was blood-stained), clipped his hair and cut his ears. He knew nothing more until he was found by the doctor. Whittaker was then taken to the hospital, stripped and examined. Not a bruise was found on him, and the doctor telling him he was not hurt, sent him on duty. General Schofield says that every cadet has been examined and none has any knowledge of the affair. He says that Whittaker is not a brilliant scholar, and as examination comes next month he might have put it off a year by going to the hospital. He has always been quite modest and well treated. Should it be discovered that this is his own doing, he will be dismissed in disgrace. The intimation was pretty strong that Whittaker was his own persecutor. General Schofield, however, states that this theory is merely a conjecture and that the final result is not yet reached.

Wheat Safer than Stocks.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Some Wall street operators have been buying largely of wheat during the past few days, considering that there is more probability of an early and steady advance in cereals than in general stocks.

Senate Nominations before the Senate

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The senate's executive session yesterday was mainly occupied with a long and animated discussion over two Mississippi nominations for supervisors of census, which were finally rejected by a strict party vote in each instance. John R. Lynch nominated for the supervisorship of the third district, is the well known colored man who preceded Gen. Chalmers as representative in congress of the so-called "Shoestring district" of Mississippi. The majority of the senate census committee reported adversely on his nomination and it was likewise opposed in the senate on the ground that he was a politician and would be likely to make use of the census supervisorship to promote his election to congress. Jno S Burton, now deputy collector of internal revenue, was reported against on similar grounds. These views were set forth by Lamar, Hill of Georgia and Harris. Senator Bruce was the leader of the debate on the other side. He warmly defended the nominees from the charge of undue partisanship and the imputation that they would not discharge their duties fairly and faithfully. He especially eulogized Lynch and declared that so far as he knew Lynch had no intention whatever of becoming a candidate for congress again. Blaine, McMillan, Cameron of Wisconsin, Hoar and others followed in eulogy of Lynch's character and abilities and denounced his proposed rejection as an act of entirely indefensible partisanship. During the debate some spirited colloquies took place between Senators Blaine and Bruce.

... RESIGNATION

... Statement of the Reasons of the ... Withdrawal

[illegible]

BERLIN, April 7.—Reports says that the ... passed the ... law ... were not agreeable to Prince Bismarck and he sent his resignation to the emperor, who refused to accept it, using the word "never." Bismarck again sent in his resignation, saying that the vote in the bundesrath was not the sole ground for his action, but his health was such that he considered it necessary to withdraw from public life. Prince Bismarck will confer with the emperor to-day. Popular opinion is that he will remain in office.

How the Announcement was Received—It is not thought to be Final.

Though no small excitement and even wild alarm was at first produced by the publication of the momentous news of Bismarck's resignation of the chancellorship, these feelings soon gave way on more sober reflection to conviction that the incident must not be looked at in the most serious light. No one can possibly believe ... that the chancellor earnestly desires to withdraw from office as he has confessedly too much important unfinished work in hand for that, or that the emperor even if convinced of the seriousness of the intention of his illustrious servant would readily grant the liberty demanded. The chancellor probably does not care whether or not the proposed receipt stamp tax is adopted, but its rejection discovers a convenient opportunity for altering the state of things in the federal council which has long annoyed him. Nor can it be doubted that the fundamental change of the imperial constitution affecting the Bundesrath is the real object he has at heart. Of 58 votes Prussia possesses 17, a little less than one third of the legislative influence appertaining to it, while her proportion of imperial population is about five eighths of the whole. What has now happened might very well occur again and Prussia might find herself in the predicament of having been outvoted on some much more momentous question than the present one by her principalities and dukedoms, even when seconded by one or two kingdoms. To obviate therefore such an untoward contingency is the unquestionable aim of the chancellor.

ENGLISH POLITICAL GOSSIP.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LONDON, April 7.—Liberals in London are preparing for a great demonstration in honor of Gladstone on his return here.

The following political gossip from to-day's World is given for what it may be worth: On recommendation of Lord Beaconsfield the queen will on the occasion of her anniversary, create an imperial order of merit for civilians only. A large number of civil servants and others will be in the first batch of persons decorated. Among the titular favors which Lord Beaconsfield will bestow before quitting office, will be baronetcies on both Wyck, proprietor of the morning Post, and J. M. Levy of the Daily Telegraph.

It is generally believed that Beaconsfield will only announce his resignation in the first sitting of the new parliament. On the formation of a new cabinet parliament will adjourn for a fortnight to permit the ... of cabinet ministers holding seats in the house of commons.

It is rumored at the Carleton Club that Beaconsfield will advise the queen to send for Gladstone.

Beaconsfield holds Lytton's resignation as viceroy to India to take effect absolutely in case the elections are adverse to the government. Beaconsfield might therefore appoint his successor, but he probably will not, as the new ministry would almost certainly cancel the appointment.

It is probable that Lord Northbrook will be asked to go to India for a couple of years to put matters in order there.

The Marquis of Ripon is the favorite candidate for viceroyship of Ireland. The emancipation act requires a protestant but that section of the act might be repealed. The O'Connor Don will be offered the chief secretaryship for Ireland, and if he declines to serve, Shaw Lefevre will be appointed. The difficulty about Gladstone's position will probably be settled by his becoming head of the new government with the understanding that after a year or two he shall retire from parliament and be succeeded by Lord Granville. No minister could lead the house of commons with Gladstone in the position of irresponsible dictator. He must represent the government in the commons, go to the house of lords or quit public life.

Lowe will not be a member of the new cabinet but will probably be raised to the peerage as Lord Caterham.

The total number of liberal votes so far cast is 1,258,000, a gain of 328,000. Total conservative vote so far 918,000, a gain of 10,000.

Rumor that the Conservatives and Home Rulers will Combine.

The Cuban Budget.

The peninsula deputies have approved of the first thirteen articles of the Cuban budget.

Spain's Merchant Marine.

Enquiry is proceeding at the ministry of finance relative to means for developing the Spanish mercantile marine. Senor Armerzil, a Catalonian shipbuilder, in the course of the enquiry expressed the opinion that the precarious position of Spanish shipping, is due to the disastrous competition it has sustained in the Cuban trade more particularly on the part of the United States. He urged that Spanish and Cuban shipping be protected by lowering consular dues, loading and other charges, and that treaties of commerce be concluded with England and the United States.

Afghanistan.

CANDAHAR, April 6.—A British commissioner has brought a letter from the viceroy of India to Sirdar Shere Ali, informing him that the queen confers upon him the sovereignty of the province of Candahar, with the title of Wali. The limits of the province are to be fixed hereafter. Shere Ali is also informed of the proposed construction of a railway to Candahar, where a British force and political agent will be permanently settled.

POLITICAL.

The Connecticut Republican Convention.

NEW HAVEN, April 7.—The republican state convention met here to-day, Amos S. Treat, chairman. A resolution favoring the nomination of a man like Edmunds or Washburne was withdrawn, the spirit being opposed to instructions. Henry C. Robinson, John M. Douglass, Augustus Brandege and Samuel Wessendon were chosen delegates at large. The convention pledged vigorous support of the nominee of the Chicago convention. The state delegation stands Blaine 5, Edmunds 4, Washburne 3.

The Connecticut Delegation to Chicago.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Gentlemen who have arrived here from Connecticut predict that the convention in that state to-day will send a delegation to Chicago that will be very much mixed. It will be divided they think, about equally between the three candidates and Edmunds giving each three votes.

Iowa for Blaine.

DES MOINES, April 7.—The republicans have elected county delegates to the state convention from 14 counties, giving 11 votes. All are for Blaine and instructed. Five other counties give ... for Blaine but not instructed. No delegates have been elected for any other candidate except a delegation from Burlington to-day, which is chiefly for Grant, though not instructed.

The Iowa Democratic Convention.

BURLINGTON, April 7.—The democratic state convention to-day was large and enthusiastic. The chairman in a speech declared that the electoral frauds of 1876 must be the issue and must be prevented in 1880. A man must be nominated at Cincinnati who can defeat Grant as anybody of sense could see that the latter will be nominated. Commissioners were appointed.

Upon reassembling a permanent organization was effected. The resolutions denounce republican corruption and frauds and favor the two-third rule in the national convention. Delegates to Cincinnati were elected and instructed to vote as a unit. Delegates at large: J. ... J. ... Daniel ..., ... Bates, John ..., ... and ... D. M. Harris. Adjourned.

The Platform.

The committee on platform submitted its report, which was read. Mr. Arthur submitted an additional resolution as a minority report. The platform as finally adopted is as follows:

The democratic party of the state of Oregon, in convention assembled, profoundly sensible of the important consequences depending upon the immediate result of their deliberations, declare and reassert the principles of popular liberty and rights laid down by Washington, Jefferson and the other founders of the republic. We believe that the tendencies of the republican party to centralization and consolidation are contrary to the principles of our institutions. We insist on unity, fraternity and concord and that the issues formed by the war ... be ... We demand ... the votes ... be ... popular will be set aside by unscrupulous partisans. That we are unalterably opposed to any one holding the office of president of the United States for three terms.

Resolved, First—That we ... efficient ... and economy in every department of the government ... state and federal.

Second—That all property should bear its just proportion of taxation and we favor the enactment of such laws as will accomplish this end.

Third—That we favor the equal protection of the rights of labor and capital under just laws ... by lessening the burdens and increasing the advantages of the working people.

Fourth—That we claim as amongst the powers reserved to the states the right to pass at any time by their legislatures laws designed to prevent common carriers from making unjust discriminations against persons and places.

Fifth—That we favor the maintenance of the public schools the hope and pride of a free state.

Sixth—That the democracy demand free and fair elections and to that end denounce all interference with elections by the military power; that the experience of this and other countries has abundantly proved that the presence of troops at the polls is destructive of the freedom of elections and is incompatible with the existence of free institutions.

Seventh—That the efforts of the republican party to open and keep alive the war feeling between the north and the south are to be condemned by every lover of his country.

Eighth—That we favor continued lawful agitation on the subject of mongolian emigration to this country until the federal government is moved to modify our treaties with the Chinese empire so as to prohibit it ... and thus save those of our fellow citizens who depend upon labor for support from unjust and degrading competition. We condemn and hold ... the recent ... veto of R. B. Hayes of the bill limiting Chinese immigration to this country and this ... people have no hope for relief from the scourge except from a democratic president.

Ninth—That we regard with alarm the recent decision of the supreme court of the United States as having been made in the interest of the republican party and intended to ... the last vestige of state rights ... and consolidate the federal ... empire.

Tenth—That we hold to the constitution with all its amendments ... and ... interpretation ... in consonance with the spirit of the original instrument.

Eleventh—That we pledge our earnest endeavors to upholding ... unimpaired suffrage absolutely free from federal force and supervision.

Twelfth—That ... every ... all favoritism ... single interest or class of persons should be protected at the expense of others.

LINN COUNTY RESOLUTIONS.

Republicans of Linn county, in their convent on last week adopted a series of resolutions which in part were very good, and in part as it seems to us, of very questionable utility. A preamble referred to the exorbitant emoluments received by certain county officials, and a resolution was appended demanding of the senators and representatives of Linn county an effort to secure such legislation as "will positively reduce the expenses of litigation and the fees of clerk and sheriff to a just compensation for the services rendered, and no more." The idea of reduction is an important one, but we cannot entirely commend the method by which it is proposed to bring it about. The fees must be regulated by general law. A fee bill which would provide "just compensation and no more" in the counties of Linn, Marion and Multnomah, would afford too little compensation in counties having smaller population and less business. No doubt the fees might be reduced from their present rate without doing injustice or causing serious inconvenience anywhere. But it is not so important that the fees be reduced as that a law be passed requiring all fees earned by sheriffs and clerks to be thrown into the county treasuries, and that salaries be prescribed for sheriffs and clerks after the manner of the statute fixing the salaries of county judges. In such case the salaries would be made proportional to the business of the offices of sheriff and clerk in each county, but in no event should a salary exceed $2500 a year. The county court should be empowered in each case to make proper allowance for such clerical or other assistance as circumstances might require. In this way we should obtain a real reform. It seems not to be of so much consequence that the expenses to litigants be reduced, though something might be done in that direction, as that the officials be not permitted to make excessive emoluments, and that the county treasury have the benefit of the fees, in excess of proper salaries. Persons who go to law and employ the machinery of litigation and the power of the state to serve their own objects ought to be willing to pay for the use of the power they invoke. The true reform in this matter of sheriffs and clerks is not to be reached altogether by reduction of fees, but chiefly by placing these officials on fixed salaries and requiring them to deposit all fees earned. This is the simple and effective way.

Another resolution declares that the present rate of interest in Oregon is too high, that it is burdensome to the business interests of the country, and that it ought to be reduced by legislation. Still another resolution demands "the taxation of all mortgages on real estate in the counties where the real estate is situated."

If mortgages on real estate are to be taxed at all, they certainly ought to be taxed in the counties where the real estate is situated. The records should be searched for the purpose, and the clerk should be required to make an abstract at some given date in each year, for the use of the assessor. Through this plan persons in Portland lending money on mortgages in Linn county would not be able so easily to escape taxation. But it would seem that every person ought to see without much difficulty that taxation of notes and mortgages is entirely incompatible with a low rate of interest. To reduce interest by law on one hand while taxing the evidences upon which money is loaned on the other, is as impossible as the scheme of giving to consumers of the cities cheap bread and at the same time assuring to farmers high prices for their wheat. The only result of these efforts will be to make borrowing difficult and money dear. The tax will be added to the interest or subtracted from the principal, and the greater the difficulty in collecting the interest or securing the principal, or the more ingenious and onerous the statutes which at the same time attempt to reduce the interest and tax the principal, the more the debtor will have to pay in one form or the another for the accommodation. Farmers of Linn who have occasion to borrow money upon the security of their land are obliged to pay at least ten per cent. If it were known the mortgages would not be taxed they could readily get the money for six or seven. They have to pay the increased rate of interest as a penalty of trying to tax the borrowed money, and then in most cases the money is obtained from shrewd managers who, by various arts of manipulation, succeed at last in escaping the tax, or a large part of it. No way has ever yet been devised to get a low rate of interest and at the same time to subject the evidences of the loans to taxation, nor ever can. The general government pursues the simple course in this matter. It does not allow its bonds to be taxed, and as a consequence it gets hundreds of millions of dollars at three and a half to four per cent per annum. Linn is an agricultural county. If it wants cheap money there is only one way to get it. The result is not to be reached through a statute to reduce the rate of interest, which will be wholly futile, but by abandonment of the effort to tax loans.

BRITISH TRADE.

Statistics of British trade show that since 1872 there has been an annual decrease of exports from the United Kingdom, and an increase of imports; and by many these statistics have been taken as a pretty sure indication of the decline of the foreign trade and domestic industries of Great Britain. In 1872 the value of exports, expressed in dollars, was $1,281,286,735. In 1879 it was only $957,518,360—a decrease of $323,768,375. This large decrease is certainly calculated at first view to produce the impression that the trade of the country is in a bad way. And then an additional argument has been found in the fact that the imports have been increasing. This, however, is not under the circumstances an unfavorable side of the account. In 1879 Great Britain imported goods and materials valued at $1,530,000,000, against a value of $1,480,000,000 in 1872. Now the croakers regard this as one of the most discouraging signs of the times; but as plain matter of fact the figures only show that the people of Great Britain have been able to increase their foreign purchases, notwithstanding the decrease in their exports. A country which can go on increasing its imports year after year certainly can not be growing very poor. The increase in the excess of imports is easily accounted for. England is a creditor country. Its citizens have vast sums loaned and invested abroad, and, of late years, they have been receiving more and more in payment of interest and principal, and they have taken their pay in merchandise instead of money. A few years ago they held large amounts of American securities, the greater part of which they have returned to us, taking our products in exchange. It is probable, too, that they have returned other foreign securities to a very large amount. Since 1877 the "adverse balance" has been growing less, and it will doubtless be still less hereafter, as the English seem to have sent off about all the securities they care to part with. Meantime the export trade is rapidly reviving, and there promises soon to be a balance again on that side.

Fine opportunity is afforded by the exodus investigation now dragging its slow length along at Washington, for the democracy to arrange matters for the coming campaign in the south, and that, too, at the cost of the government. The pretences of this fruitless inquiry, and of the new Kellogg-Spofford investigation as well, require the evidence of parish organizers and negro whippers who are brought by summons and under pay to the national capital, there to consult with the greater party leaders and organize schemes of partisan villainy.

Our reports from Albany give as full an account of the proceedings of the democratic convention as was obtainable last night. Preliminaries were gone through without difficulty, but there was delay in getting the platform into shape. Our correspondence gives the general "inwardness" of the convention. Control of it is evidently in the hands of those who revere the memory of the Grover-Chadwick administration and who look upon those democrats who have undertaken to introduce honest and economical methods as traitors to the party. Gen. Lane is brought in further prominence on his reappearance in politics by being made chairman of the convention, rising up once more as if to push some of the younger ones from their stools. We print the platform in full, as received at twelve o'clock, necessarily reserving comment till another time.

THE OUTLOOK AT ALBANY.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.
ALBANY, April 7, 1880.

Ever Slow to Learn.

The decade which has elapsed since the convention met here in 1870 and nominated the candidates whose election has been a continuing burden upon the people of Oregon ever since, has added age only and not wisdom to the leaders in the party, and they are here now ready to commit the same follies that we witnessed then. There were cliques and factions in those days, and there are differences now. Then, however they were not so far apart but that the knowledge that, if they succeeded in electing their ticket, the "spoils" would be free to all comers who could give the shibboleth of the party. So it turned out, and by the election of the Grover-Chadwick ticket the state was turned over to the plunderers.

The present administration, however, has introduced a new rule and followed it out to the evident disgust of a good many of their party brethren. Under Grover pretty much all the democrats who were of that inclination shared in the spoils, but under Thayer a large faction is locked out, and if you want to make a straight democrat mad just make it appear to him that he is left out, while some one who has not as clear a record is put in. Hence the divisions that existed in 1870 were soon healed by the doctrine of the cohesiveness of public plunder as applied by Grover, but the divisions that exist now are not likely to receive the same treatment at the hands of the present administration. Grover was not a good man for the people, but as a delegate remarked last night, "He was a heap better man for the party than Thayer." And the "party," in the worst signification of the term, is what is represented here; that is, a majority of the delegates are men who are trying much harder to subserve the interests of the party than the interests of the people. Hence, if a resolution is passed at all in regard to the present administration, it will not be all commendation. It is safe to say, however, that the convention will not allow any official condemnation of the corrupt practices of the Grover-Chadwick ring.

The delegates are here in larger numbers than usual so early in the fight and the great guns of the party are also on hand to manipulate and control.

Prognostications.

The convention will not assemble until after the mail closes, but the programme is pretty well laid off now. General Lane will be the permanent chairman; Whiteaker will be nominated for congress on the first ballot if not by acclamation. Kelly, Prim and Burnett will be the candidates for supreme judges; Col. Effinger and John Myers will be two of the delegates to the Cincinnati convention. Either Col. Gates or L. B. Ison will be nominated for elector from east of the mountains. W. D. Fenton of Yamhill will probably be the valley candidate for elector, while the choice of the southern part of the state has not been so well defined. Those who would like to be electors are numerous, among them Mr. Owen of Coos, and Eugene Semple;—the latter, however, will get badly left. The candidates for district judges will be McArthur in the fifth district, Bellinger in the fourth, and Ramsey in the third. Of the first and second district nominations we cannot speak until further advised.

Though some of the above prognostications may be upset by the action of the convention the verification of most of them is more than likely.

Whiteaker's Letter.

It is claimed that the letter from Whiteaker, reported as a declination, is the result of a scheme to get him off the track,—not by his friends, but by those who are opposed to his nomination, and will vote against him at the polls. The letter itself is not really worth the paper it is written on, either as an acceptance or a declination, though it is easy to see that "honest John" would be easy to start on another ride to Washington, so far as his own mind is concerned, if the people will only give him the commission. I may send the letter after it is presented to the convention, just to show you what a "wishy washy" thing it is.

A Talk without Results.

A crowd gathered at the courthouse last night and listened to speeches from John Burnett, Ben Hayden and others. The enthusiasm had not been worked up and did not attain a high pitch. Ben urged his claims to the nomination for congress, but it was plainly manifest that the crowd, largely made up of delegates, did not see it.

J. M. Thompson,

Of Lane, has been asked by quite a number of delegates to allow his name to go before convention as a candidate for congress, but he is too wise to be caught with chaff or wilfully rush into a slaughter pen. His letter in THE OREGONIAN of the 6th, is warmly endorsed by some members of the convention, but a majority are down on him for his fearless exposure of the wrongs done by officials of his party. Whenever the party comes to a full sense of right and can appreciate the highest honesty in a partisan and a citizen, then such men as Judge Thompson will come to the front; but we fear we will have to wait a long time, when we look at the slow progress which his party is making toward that eminence.

Mrs. Houck, who is conducting the St. Charles Hotel, is doing all she can to accommodate the large number of guests crowding this popular house.

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 8, 1880.

CITY.

STEAMER MOVEMENTS.—Since the completion of navigation on the Snake river, the rush of freight has been so great, that the O. R. & N. Co. has found it necessary to put on two lines of boats between Portland and the Dalles. The steamers S. G. Reed and Wide West are running between here and the Cascades. One boat goes up one day and returns the next, remaining over night at the port. By this means the boat bound down reaches this city very early in the afternoon. Connection is made each day with the steamers from the Dalles. Between the Dalles and Upper Cascades the Mountain Queen and R. R. Thompson are running daily. Above Celilo the following steamers are running: D. S. Baker, Annie Faxon, John Gates, Spokane and Almota. On the lower Columbia the steamers Emma Hayward and Bonita make daily trips between Portland and Astoria.

DROWNED.—Mr. Albert Love, son of the late Wm. Love, was drowned yesterday from the steamer Calliope. While the steamer was on the way to this place the young man fell overboard, and before assistance could possibly reach him he perished. Deceased was aged 19 years. He was a grand son of Capt. Lewis Love, who is so well known in Portland. About a year ago Mr. William Love, father of this unfortunate young man, was drowned in the Columbia slough. The body was recovered soon after the accident. Young Love was well known in Portland, where he has been working for some months.

THE NEW HOTEL.—Work on "The Esmond," the new hotel building at the corner of Morrison and Front streets, is being pushed vigorously ahead, and upholsterers will soon be engaged in the work of furnishing the establishment. Mr. H. Brenner, the proprietor, announced that "The Esmond" will be formally opened about May 1st. A few days prior to the opening, the hotel will be subject to personal inspection. "The Esmond" will contain all the modern improvements—including an elevator—and it is the purpose of Mr. Brenner to make the hotel first-class in every particular.

CONTRACT AWARDED.—The Statesman says: "The Capital Lumbering Co. of Salem, have been notified by J. Brandt, Jr., superintendent of the O. & C. R. R., that they had been awarded the contract to furnish the lumber and bridge timbers to be used on the line of railroad between Salem and Silverton, and that the mill company are to commence immediately on the contract. It will take about half a million feet of lumber to complete the contract."

OUT AGAIN.—Some weeks ago little Clemmie O'Brien, one of the telegraph and telephone messengers, had the misfortune to sustain a fracture of the leg. The horse on which he was seated slipped and falling on the lad's limb broke the bone. Master Clemmie has suffered a great deal from the unfortunate accident; but he bore up quite bravely. We are pleased to note that he is again able to be out.

MEETING OF ALUMNI.—The members of the Association Alumni of Portland high school are requested to meet this evening, at 8 o'clock sharp, in the high school library room, in the western portion of the Central school. The entrance is on Seventh street. Full attendance is requested.

CITY RIFLES ELECTION.—Following is the list of officers elected by the City Rifles last night: Captain, W. E. Thayer; 1st lieutenant, Henry Gum; 2d lieutenant, Theo. Johnston; orderly sergeant, Geo. Maxwell; secretary, Fred Doubleb...; treasurer, H. D. Kribs.

BRIEF NOTES.

Lively times at Albany.

Have you paid your taxes yet?

Trains running clear through to Lewiston.

County commissioners were in session yesterday.

The steamer Oregon will sail hence this morning.

The circuit court will adjourn this week for the term.

Steamer State of California due here some time to-night.

The weather clerk is making amends for his past misconduct.

The political ball will be kept rolling from now until next November.

Bring on your street sprinkler. It will soon be needed—from present appearances.

This year of our good Lord is the year for railroad booms on the northwest coast.

Portland will make some tall strides this season in the way of buildings and street improvements.

There will be a warm fight at the county election for the offices of clerk and sheriff of Multnomah county.

This is good weather to wield the hoe and the "agricultural implement," which undisguised people call a spade.

The genuine house fly is being warmed into life and will soon be in a condition to enter upon a summer campaign.

The present press upon the columns of The Oregonian by advertisers is simply fearful. Business men know where to advertise to get the worth of their money.

WILLIAM ELLERY CHANNING.

Interesting Memorial Services at Unitarian Church Last Night.

The handsome auditorium of the Unitarian church was well filled last night at the exercises commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of William Ellery Channing. The programme opened with an excellent selection "Beatus Vir," by the choir. Rev. T. L. Eliot then delivered the following

Address of Welcome.

I think it was Lamartine, a distinguished author in France, who, upon reading Channing for the first time said "I have found a man." If the great spirit, who is a century old to-day, takes cognizance of our thoughts, no word can be more grateful than this, whose meaning stands forth all the more conspicuously for the absence of qualifying phrase. To be thought in some degree to have filled the place of man, to have touched something of the heights and depths comprehended in the human soul, to have fortified in action and word something of the life to which Infinite Love elects his children—would be a heart like Channing's the highest honor—the completest tribute of memory. In him the world is more and more finding a man. His work derives itself gaily from himself, from his own burning and circulated enthusiasm. There are few men who so submit their works and make the reader grow as in face to face with the intensest purpose and most quenchless convictions. Channing is called a prophet of humanity, and while we turn his pages we recognize a prophet's inspiration, a prophet's zone. Bunsen well describes him "in humanity a Greek, in citizenship a Roman, in Christianity an Apostle."

What did Channing do? For brief answer I can say: He rediscovered the dignity of human nature, and with that great discovery glowed and burned into men's hearts a new method, a new principle of life. He found his fellow beings skeptical, not only of others, not only of themselves, but darkly doubting and disbelieving in the very type of that part of creation called human and humanity. He saw that the very heart of christianity was being left out. Salvation was being called "something added to humanity," and in his insight it meant "something inherent in humanity, brought forth, unfolded and redeemed." His method was an almost unbounded faith in man as such, and in human society as such, and he reasoned, "once get a man, however low or self despairing, to believe in himself, and believe calmly in what God has laid away in His soul, and with this faith will come impulse, growth, spirituality, intellectual and moral salvation." "The moral nature is man's great tie to the Divinity. If so there is but one mode of approach to God. It is by faithfulness to the inward, everlasting law." If you will read the words I have ventured to place upon the programme as mottos, you will feel the searching power, the comprehensiveness of this method. "All minds are of one family"—the mind of God, the mind of Christ, the mind of man—and substantially, fundamentally related to each other, as are members of one household. "The lesson of the universe is God's impartiality. His has one law one love for all." To draw out the full meaning involved in those words, would be to unite a body of Divinity, to frame a widely searching theory of nature and society, to redeem Providence. In them lies, as if in germ, the best elements of the modern scientific method. "I belong to the church Universal, nothing shall separate me from it." Here is a thought, expanding and inspiring. There is a sense in which Channing belonged to no sect, and while intense in all his convictions, held them as world possessions. "One sublime idea has given me unity of thought,—the greatness, the divinity of the soul." To understand all that Channing meant by this one must read his life—we shall find it no idle mysticism—but a grand working faith, arraigning a Napoleon as a giant failure—denouncing slavery, war, the oppressions of society, intemperance, partisan selfishness. Everywhere appealing for intellectual freedom, Channing saw Christ in every human kind. He fulfilled his word, "Ye have done it unto me."

I welcome you, friends, to this simple hour of memorial thoughts. I welcome still more this wondrous day of grace in which we live. I welcome the signs that our race is in spiritual and mental travail. I welcome the eternal dawning light which is destined to go on into perfect day. Other prophets of God will rise and are rising. It is a day of open vision. May we fill the spirit of this commemorative hour by a resolve to keep our faces to the light. The conviction that the Infinite One indeed has one law, one love for all that in the moral and rational nature is God's perpetual revelation, that human society and the individual are forever to be weighed in the scales of moral purpose is growing upon mankind. This conviction stands behind kings, senates, churches; behind wealth, oppression, materialism and in its presence these things become shadows. Man, his rights, his wrongs, his moral elevation his destiny as child of God, is the keyword of the future, and wherever the note is struck and life flows out there the kingdom of heaven is set and God as sovereign is coming to his own.

Mr. Thomas Frazar who heard Dr. Channing preach more than fifty years ago in Boston, read some interesting reminiscences of the great, liberal writer. Miss Augusta Allen, read with clearness, good expression and fine taste, not unmixed with gentle force, Dr. Channing's address, "I call that Mind Free." Miss Jennie Miller then recited Whittier's tribute, "Hero and Saint," and was followed by Willie Eliot, who recited a portion of Dr. Channing's address on "Slavery in America," both well rendered. The most charming portion of the interesting programme, was Mrs. D. F. Smith's reading of James Russell Lowell's elegy on Channing. Her rich, low well modulated voice was admirably suited to the selection, and every stanza was a separate gem. Mr. Alfred T. Sears delivered a short, concise and not overdrawn eulogy, on the character of Channing, closing with an appeal to all Christians to finish the great moral structure planned by the man whose birth they were celebrating. The exercises were interspersed with more than ordinarily fine offerings by the splendid choir.

After the literary exercises, the announcement was made that every one present would be the guest of the ladies of the church at refreshments, which were served in the chapel. A picture of Channing, surrounded by blooming flowers was hung in the chapel, and was admired by all present. Pleasant social intercourse closed a most enjoyable evening.

I TAKE pleasure in saying to the public that I will give prompt attention to all orders from both city and country for making views of residences, business houses, public buildings, landscape views, steamboats, fine stock and especially interior work, showing parlor views, fine displays of merchandise, mill and steamboat machinery etc. I claim that my special artist, Mr. Wulzen, has no superior on the coast—save Mr. Watkins, of San Francisco, in whose employ he was for over six years—and desire to devote his entire time to that class of work for the next few months. REPORTS.

From the committee on fire and water, showing that they had disposed of some old hose belonging to the city; report adopted.

The following report was received from the committee on landings and wharves, and adopted:

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council: Your committee on landings and wharves to whom was referred the petition of the Jefferson Street Ferry Co., beg leave to report as follows:

First—By subdivision 27 of section 36, chapter 8 of the charter, the city is authorized to "build, construct and regulate landings at the foot of the streets terminating at the Willamette river."

Two—By an ordinance, No. 1107 passed Oct. 27, 1871, a ferry landing was located and established at the foot of Columbia street, which, however, has not been used for that purpose; and its use for that purpose is impracticable without destroying the use of Water street at its intersection with Columbia, in making the necessary grading for the ferry landing at Columbia street, while Jefferson street may be graded for a ferry landing from the river edge to the east line of Front street and will make a good ferry landing thereby.

Third—It is the opinion of your committee that the establishment of a ferry across the Willamette river in that portion of the city will be a great convenience and advantage to the business portion of the public on both sides of the river, and is desired by residents in that portion of the city, wherefore your committee herewith report an ordinance for locating and establishing a ferry landing at the foot of Jefferson street, and to repeal ordinance No. 1107, locating and establishing a ferry landing at the foot of Columbia street and recommending its passage.

E. H. STOLTE,
S. KELLER.
Committee on Landings and Wharves.

The quarterly report of the city treasurer was read and referred to the committee on ways and means.

A report was read from the auditor and clerk in regard to the report of the police judge; placed on file.

Report of the Directors and Secretary—Some Suggestions to Cannery Men.

Following are the reports of the board of directors and the secretary of the Oregon and Washington Fish Propagating Company, read at the annual meeting Tuesday evening:

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

PORTLAND, April 6, 1880.

To the Stockholders of the Oregon and Washington Fish Propagating Co.: Gentlemen—We, your directors beg leave to submit to you our report of the work and business of the year 1879, as follows:

At the date of our last annual report the outstanding indebtedness of the company amounted to $1472 99, and vouchers had been forwarded to Prof. Baird, the same being made therein in the same report.

Upon these vouchers the sum of $ ... was received, ... with the amount of ... on the books of the treasurer, ... 1879, ... standing was against the company at that time, have (a reduction having been made by some of the claimants) all been paid. These claims are more fully set forth in Exhibit "E," hereto attached and made a part of this report.

In the spring of 1879 we made a contract with Jas. Pequet for the construction of a rock and dam on the river at the hatching house for fish with the express agreement that it should be constructed so as to stand during the season, the company to keep it clear of floating leaves and other debris so as to allow the water to pass through it freely.

Unfortunately the run of fish in the Clackamas during the season of 1879 was lighter than usual, and it was with difficulty that eggs in sufficient quantities could be procured, but about 2,700,000 were put into the house, of which we reasonably hoped the usual per cent. would be hatched. The scarcity of eggs induced Mr. Hubbard to use all the known methods to obtain fish, the trap, the seine and the spear. It is believed that the eggs spawned from fish taken with the spear were in some way injured by the mode of taking and therefore a much smaller percentage of them hatched out than usual. Fair success was had with the other eggs taken and a large proportion of them hatched out, of which there were turned into the river on the 24th day of November 80,000 healthy young fish.

On the 10th day of December, 90,000 more were turned out in fine condition, and again on the 19th day of December, 90,000 more.

A large number of young fish were in the boxes and growing finely when the unusually cold weather came on, about December 20th, and they were all killed by the freeze. This was the most serious loss of the year, and taught us that the securing of eggs as early in the season as possible can ... is necessary. In order to avoid loss from similar causes in the future. Had it not been for this loss the number of fish turned out would have been in excess of the output of the preceding year, which was 1,400,000.

The funds received from the fish commissioners of Oregon and Washington territory, during year, were as follows:

From A. W. Ferguson, Fish Commissioner for Oregon	$6,804 00
From A. L. Stream, Fish Commissioner Washington Territory	2,876 08
Total	$9,680 08

The expenditures during 1879 are shown by exhibits "A," "B," "C" and "D," herewith submitted and made a part of this report. While the amount now on hand for the conduct of the hatching house the coming season is $1513 83, being $ ... 42 less than the amount expended last year, it is believed that with economical management it can be made to cover all the expense necessary to be incurred. One item upon which we believe a considerable saving can be made, is the construction of the rack, for which $550 was paid last year, but which we believe can be built for somewhat less this season. Among what may be called extraordinary expenses this year are repairs to the buildings at the hatching establishment, which were damaged by the windstorm in the month of January last. Other expenses will be light.

We therefore hope that the incoming directors will be able with the funds on hand to conduct the work of the company successfully and to keep it free from debt.

It is with regret that we report that the law requiring a license from the fishermen, from which the state proposed to raise a revenue for the support of the salmon hatching establishment, has been held unconstitutional by the circuit court for this district, and that this source of aid will be closed unless the legislature should provide for the protection of this important enterprise. It ought not to be expected that private individuals will bear the entire burden of keeping our rivers stocked with fish which are open and free to the whole public. It is therefore no more than justice that the legislature should pass a law providing some means by which the complete destruction of the fishing industry of the state may be obviated.

Secretary's Report.

PORTLAND, April 6, 1880.

To the Officers and Stockholders of the Oregon and Washington Fish Propagating Company—GENTLEMEN: The undersigned, secretary, begs leave to submit this his report for the year ending April 6, 1880:

At the last annual meeting the indebtedness of the company was estimated to be $1472 99, which has been paid off out of the funds received upon the vouchers forwarded to Prof. Baird.

The amounts paid on those claims outstanding January 1, 1879, are fully set forth in exhibit "E," submitted herewith.

The receipts from other sources during the year were as follows:

From A. W. Ferguson, fish commissioner for Oregon	$6804 00
From A. S. Stream Fish Commission for Washington territory	2876 08
	$9680 08

The disbursements have been as follows:

Expense account, abstract "A"	$ 518 61
Construction account, abst "B"	2098 64
Supplies account, abstract "C"	696 66
Labor account, abstract "D"	1827 14	$136 25
Leaving a balance of		$4543 83

All of which is respectfully submitted.

C. A. FREEMAN, Secretary.

Judging by the very small attendance Tuesday evening, it seems that interest by cannery men in the Clackamas hatchery has almost died out. That something must be done to maintain the run of salmon in the Columbia is evident. The supply is not inexhaustible. Experience with every river in the United States and Europe, proves this, and the Columbia will not be an exception. One of the best informed packers on the river says, and his words are entitled to consideration, that out of the 1,500,000 salmon caught last year, two-thirds are estimated to have been females. Suppose that each one contained 5000 eggs, that the fish had gone to head waters and spawned, that only one per cent of the eggs hatched and then only one-fourth of the young fish reach maturity, there were destroyed by last year's catch 12,500,000 salmon. This is not an overestimate. The number of fish taken from the river increases with each succeeding year, and how long will the supply last unless the river is re-stocked?

It cost $5000 a year to sustain the Clackamas hatchery, which, if carefully conducted will insure a constant supply. Enough money remains in the hand of the directors to sustain the hatchery for another year, but beyond that time no provision has been made.

Decisions by Judge Bellinger of this state, and by Judge Hoyt of Washington territory, have declared the main provision of the license law unconstitutional. Concerted action on the part of cannery men could no doubt secure the passage of a tax law which would stand the test of courts, and which would, without laying an oppressive burden on fishermen, raise a revenue sufficient for the maintenance of the hatchery.

Unless more interest is manifested at the meeting of the propagating company, to be held on the 20th inst., than was shown last Tuesday evening, the Clackamas hatchery in 1881 will be numbered among the things of the past. Let there be a large attendance. The third greatest interest of Oregon should not be jeopardized by parsimony and neglect.

PORTLAND
CITY HOMESTEAD.

THE LAND IN THIS ENTERPRISE LIES adjoining the city, and is only from ten to fifteen minutes' walk from the court-house, and a less distance than that from one of the best public schools in the city. It is divided into

One Thousand and Twenty-Four Lots,

Fifty by one hundred feet in size, with streets sixty feet wide. Two hundred of these lots will be reserved for those who desire to improve and build this summer and fall. These lots will be sold on the same liberal terms that are offered in the Homestead proper.

Price.

All lots will be sold for $100 each, payable in installments of $5 per month, or the small sum of 16⅔ cents per day. No interest will be charged, and a good and sufficient Bond for Deed will be given upon the payment of the first installment of $5, and a Warranty Deed upon receipt of last installment, both without expense to purchaser.

Appreciation of Values.

By reference to The Oregonian of Feb. 15th, it will be found that city property has advanced twenty-five per cent during the past year. As there has been no excitement, the rise is wholly attributable to the increasing immigration and the growing confidence inspired by our numerous railroad enterprises, and the development of our many natural resources, that have hitherto slumbered for lack of energetic men to develop them.

It is True,

That of all real estate investments the homestead plan is the best and safest, as all who invest are interested in making the whole property more valuable. To illustrate: Suppose A builds a house on his lot, and B owns a lot adjoining: B gets the benefit of A's improvement, while A is not injured thereby. This philosophy will apply to the entire property.

We have donated a lot to each of the principal churches for church purposes.

In addition to the above, two lots are set apart for public school purposes.

Division.

The division of this property will take place when the lots are all sold, or, in any event, not later than the 28th February, 1881,

at the Mechanics' Pavilion, commencing at 10 o'clock A. M., public notice of which will be given by publication in two principal journals in the State.

It will be made in the manner decided upon by a majority of the purchasers in the Homestead. Parties interested may appoint proxies to act for them if they desire to do so. Parties who do not attend at the time of the division, either in person or by proxy, will be bound by the plan settled upon by the majority of those who do so attend.

It is suggested by the purchasers that division might be made by placing the number of each lot and block in a wheel or box and the name of each party interested in the homestead in another—then a name will be drawn from one and a number from the other, and the lot so drawn deeded to the person whose name is so drawn, when all payments are made.

All but the first installment must be paid at the Banking house of Ladd & Tilton, in the city of Portland.

Persons from a Distance

Desiring a share, may forward $5.00 to the General Manager, and a bond will be immediately forwarded.

Money may be forwarded by registered letter, money order, or Wells Fargo & Co's Express, at my risk.

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence

THE GENUINE

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs increases on pressure sometimes the pain is in the left side the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness the bowels in general are costive sometimes alternative with lax the head is troubled with pain accompanied with a dull heavy sensation in the back part There is generally a considerable loss of memory accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done A slight dry cough is sometimes an attendant The patient complains of weariness and debility he is easily startled his feet are cold or burning and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin his spirits are low, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it In fact he distrusts every remedy Several of the above symptoms attend the disease but cases have occurred where few of them existed yet examination of the body, after death has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged

AGUE AND FEVER

DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER when taken with Quinine are productive of the most happy results No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative they are unequaled

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

The genuine are never sugar coated

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR McLANE'S LIVER PILLS

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C McLANE and FLEMING BROS on the wrapper

Insist upon having the genuine DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS prepared by Fleming Bros of Pittsburgh Pa the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness Dr S will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases and a healthy restoration of the genito urinary organs
